

TRADITIONS

As the oldest boys' school in Western Australia, Hale School looks back on 160 years of history and tradition. We continue to celebrate the traditions we have carried forward, including our Anglican foundation, while recognising we must keep pursuing new frontiers with confidence.

WE ASPIRE TO:

- develop a common language, culture and identity that honours diversity, difference and change
- provide a foundation that also sparks a desire to move forward and create new traditions within a contemporary and changing society
- expand the concept of masculinity and champion a contemporary view of boys' education

WE WILL:

- develop a contemporary approach to boys' education and the traditional views of masculinity
- examine existing familiar community traditions
- utilise alumni for mentoring
- explore options for better showcasing historical artefacts around the school so they have a 'lived experience'
